

Joseph Needham's Intellectual Heritage & Its Contemporary Significance

By Prof. Jianjun Mei

The Needham Research Institute, Cambridge
The McDonald Institute for Archaeological Research, University of Cambridge

6 February 2026 FRI.

JST 10:00-12:00

@ Main Conference Room | ZOOM

3th Floor, Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia, the University of Tokyo

Moderator: Yuki Tanaka

Associate Professor,
Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia,
the University of Tokyo

In recent years, a research trend of "Second look at Joseph Needham" has emerged in academia. Why is it necessary to have a second look at Joseph Needham now? How should we re-examine Needham? What is the contemporary significance of Needham's intellectual heritage? In this lecture, based on a review of relevant research papers on "Second look at Joseph Needham," I shall offer some preliminary thoughts on the study of Needham's intellectual heritage and its contemporary significance, hoping to enhance our understanding and awareness of Needham's overviews on the development of science and civilization not only in ancient China, but also in the world.

Registration for Online
Participants

Inquiries: gas@ioc.u-tokyo.ac.jp

東洋文化研究所
Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia

GAS
Global
Asian Studies

